

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a registered psychologist, working in a private setting, and teaching at the Chisholm Institute in Victoria, Australia. The first time I started coaching with Behnam Bakhshandeh was in 2012, while I was a full-time undergraduate student. Although in the beginning, his coaching and the coaching modules were very challenging, I decided to trust him and his approach accordingly, which resulted in 2 years of one-on-one coaching and mentoring.

During his coaching and mentoring, I learned how to be organized and manage my life with joy, happiness, and accountability. His coaching and methods have contributed to enhancing growth and greatness in my personal life, which ultimately positively affected my professional field and career. I have learned how to be accountable and reliable in my professional field. I am currently running my own business as a psychologist in the private sector.

I have learned not to let the negative inner conversation be dominant. Instead, I have used Behnam's training towards inner peace, contentment, and success while trusting myself to not only win the game but also to be happier and more productive in my life while I am doing it!

In 2019, I decided to continue with Behnam's coaching again to strengthen my skills in my career and advance my competencies in a newly established business. I have already recommended one of my best friends and am inspired by his effectiveness in his new business. I am confident in highlighting Primeco Education's integrity and Behnam as a coach to those who want to see a more significant aspect of themselves and to improve their quality of life, personally and professionally.
